Experience having; unfortunately, necessary. Satisfied of the want of coherence among the members of the Diplomatic Body, conscions of their commercial rivalries, and encouraged by the success which has attended all their own recent negotiations with foreign Powers, the Chinese Government are prepared to limit reparation to the haldest point, to refuse the slightest concession, and to decline to recognise responsibi lities which they would formerly have ad mitted without hesitation. Rumour has i that the Foreign Ministers have presented joint note to the Tsung-li Yamen demanding that the Central Government shall take effective measures for the protection of foreign hie and property; and no doubt the Board in question has blandly replied that the matter is occupying their careful consideration and that the Government will not fail to do their duty. Such an assurance is surely sufficient, it will be argued, for the collection of inanities who in March last were tricked into the reception in the Tze Kwang Ko!

THE SANITARY BOARD ELECTION.

The election by the ratepayers of two members of the Sanitary Board takes HUMPHEETS and Mr. J. J. FRANCIS, Q.C., the present members, was practically certain, the Board if there were a third sent to be filled, but his chance of ousting either of the surprised if he is not again returned at the head of the poll. Mr. Francis, with his keen and ever ready criticism-sometimes, perhaps, degenerating into captiousnesshas exercised a wholesome influence both on the Board and its officers. In his address he expresses his determination to continue the struggle to obtain for the Board a more liberal constitution and greater powers of control over sanitation and over the public money to be expended for that purpose. Mr. Francis was a member of the committee which recommended that Mr. Cooper should be appointed the Water Authority, whereas, as it seemed to us, the control of the water supply ought properly to have been vested in the Sanitary Board from the outset. His action in this matter, however, whether wise or unwise, certainly did not proceed from any general preference for a bureaucratic over a popular system of control in the affairs of the Colony; and he .has, in fact, been busy drafting a Bill for submission to the Government effecting various improvements in the constitution of the Board and enlarging its powers. This is a work for which Mr. Francis has special

THE SUSPENSION OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The present is a very unfortunate time at

The causes are not far to seek, and they in no way affect the permanent sources of the Colony's prosperity or threaten its credit. A loan could be raised without difficulty and the influx of a little money into the place would be aspecially welcome at a time like this. Instead of suspending public works it seems to us that the Government should push them on with more than ordinary vigeur. It will of course be understood that we do not advocate rackless or extravagant expenditure, but seeing that there are certain works that must be executed at some time or other we say their execution at the present time would be doubly advantageous, since it would give sion by the Canton authorities for pushing employment to a number of persona and cause a circulation of money at a period when these things are particularly required. Downing Street, 7th May, 1891. Sir. - With reference to the telegraphic corespondence noted in the margin relative to the nerease of salaries in the Hongkong civil service. I have the honour to inform you that I received a telegram from Mr. Ryrie on the 24th to the Hongkong Daily Press of 15th March last,

that the suggestion to reconsider the question of paying the increased salaries was made "in conequence of the enhanced military contribution still demanded by the Imperial Government." I am unable to admit that the decision as to the military contribution forms any valid ground for postponing the grant of the increased salaries, since those salaries were voted on the estimates for the current year, at the same time that the increased military contribution was voted, and the position has not since been altered. I see no reason to doubt that the Colony can well afford to meet both of these charges. Mr. Byris is reported (in the above mentioned newspaper) to have stated in Council that all public works had been stopped, and to have argued therefore that the Colony could not afford to pay the increased military contribition. It is possible that Mr. Ryrie may have been led to nee this argument through a misconception as to the intention of my telegram of the 19th of February last, which requested you to take no steps till further orders as to extraordinary public works not already commenced. You will have since received my despatch No. 39 of 27th February. from which you will have learned that it was not my wish that such works should be indefinitely postponed, but merely that some of them hould be postponed pending the completion of such as were more argent, since the Public Works Department could hardly undertake all of them at the same time. I did not suggest that the Colony could not meet the cost of all of the works, if gradually executed, although as implied in the third paragraph of my despatch No. 39, a losu might probably be necessary, as was contemplated same years ago, to enable some of the larger works to be carried out. The necessity for such a loan was admitted before either the question of increased military contribition or of increased salaries was raised. I am always ready and willing to give the most attentive consideration to may representations made by the unofficial members of the Legislative Council, more especially when dealing with the finance of the Colony, but as there appears to be no change in the financial position and prospects of the Colong since the estimates for this year were considered by the Council I see no reason for further postponing the scheme of increased salaries, and I therefore authorize you to bring

22. Leadenhall Street. 13th May, 1891. My Lord,-A telegram has been received from Hongkong, inviting the concurrence of this Association in a protest which has been Legislative Council against the exaction of an porensed subsidy notwithstanding that the addition to the garrison on which the demand was originally grounded has not yet been made. When it was resolved some yours ago, in pursuance of the recommendations of Lord Carnarvon's Committee, to strongthen the deferees of certain important coaling stations, the principle was laid down by Lord Hartington in the House sh uld bear the cost of the necessary works,

ii. M. Government contributing the armament; and I need not recall to your Lordship's memory forwardness so that it is hoped to send them out to the nordial appreciation which was soon after China in the months of August and September reexpressed of the promptitude with which those spectively. works were undertaken. Hongk ng has expended £120,000 upon the new forts; and though some surprise was felt at the supplementary demand that its former contribution of £20,000 per annum should be doubled, as a subsidy to-wards the cost of the increased garrison, that She will be employed for a time on the Calcutta line. vote also was loyally passed in reliance on the premise by which it was accompanied that an additional battalion would be at once added. But it is otherwise with the demand which has now been made, that the additional $20,000 should be paid for last year, although no addition to the garrison has yet been made. That demand is considered in the colony to be mojust, and this Association counct but sympathise with the feeling. Not only does it involve a departure from what was held, on one side at least, to be a distinct understanding ; but it seems to involve the assertion of a principle which the colony views with grave apprehension. The situation of Hongkong and the nature The complainant, a ricksha coolie, stated that and extent of its resources cannot be too clearly Irlah women have the prottjest hands, but that he lived in the same house as defendant. For Hongkong is not only a commercial entrepôt it is an important coaling station and base of operations for our fleet, which finds there dockyard and other accommodation. Assuming, for the sake of argument, that it were effaced as a place of revidence and of trade, H.M. Government would still have to fortify and garrison it Complainant said the was an amab in the for Imperial purposes, as a strategic centre from which to extend protection, in case of need, to ships themselves and the cargoes they carry past olony cannot be reasonably held responsible: Mr. Card well indeed accepted, in 1866, in a de patch baving reference to Singapore. a principle which must be held equally applicable to Honghong-that "the Straits could not be called upon to incur any charge that might be required for treops stationed there for Imperial purposes." There has been however no desire in Hongkong to look at the question in a narrow or niggardly spirit. The truth is recognised that great incidental benefit is derived by the Colony cates covered the epium that had been seized, but from the safety afforded by Imperial protection; apparously referred to some other opium. He and it has shown willingness to contribute, to would inflict a fine of $50, with the alternative | the extent of its means, towards the increased measure of protection which H.M. Government has desided to afford. The exaction, however of an increased contribution for which no a ditional equivalent, has been given implies a dif ferent principle which this Association, speaking on behalf of the Colony, feels constrained ! combat. Therevenue of the island is not at present an expanding one; and it is evidently felt that the exaction of so large a sum, in defiance of protest, implies the possibility of further demands, at the caprice of the Treasury, which would gravely embarrass the colonial finances There is no privilege of which the colonies are more jesious than that of self-taxation. And though it is admitted that the Government may His Worship committed the defendant for wisely reserve to itself, in respect to Crown colonice, a right of distation which would be inudmissible elsewhere, grave discontent would certainly be excited by any evidence of a tenlancy to carry that power to the point of exacting contributions without, or against, the assen f the Unionial Councils.

It is in respect of this share only that Hongkong can be held directly interested. The

As no illustrative instance of the mistakes that may bemade when colonial opinion is over-ridden, this Association would venture to address a case not altogether inapposite to the present disonssion. The suppression of the Contagious Dismanna Acts at Hongkong and Singapore, in defiance of the manimous opinion of the colonists tary grant in consequence of increased garrison, and of their representatives, and it is believed promised not sent. Singapore. Ceylon inv. to also of the official members of the Legislativ Councils, has not only caused far-reaching harm but has directly reduced the available numbers and efficiency of the garrisons which those colo nies are now called noon to assist in increasing. I need hardly apologies for entering at some length upon these various aspects of a question which is being discussed with some estnessiness in Hongkong: for it is on these general grounds, as well as from sympathy in the feeling of the colony that the exaction of the addi bional grant for the past year would constitute a breach of an implied understanding, that this Association would arge upon H.M. Government the desirabil ty of foregoing the claim until the additional troops have actually arrived. In reimpo that it will be mimitted to be the utmost your most obedient servant, > ALFRED DENT. Vice-Chairman of the China Association to the Right Hon Lord Knutsford, G.J.M G. H.M. Secretary of State for the Colonies.

The fortnight just closing will be recorded as a black one in the annuls of French optoniastion, whose fabric is shaken from the very foundation and fully displays the rottenness of its system of administration.
